

In Music you should...

1. After each lesson

Complete any unfinished listening or composition activities.
Ensure you annotate your work/scores given while the learning and understanding is fresh in your head.
Plan ahead and organise your next steps.

2. Weekly

Music is a skill that develops with time. Regular lessons and practice sessions are paramount to improving your ability in your chosen area.
We recommend that you maintain a practice diary and take notes from any instrumental/vocal lessons you receive on a weekly basis.
You should work on compositions and planning both in and out of school and listen to and study your set works. Listen to music within the Areas of Study and practice Aural skills.

3. Fortnightly

Read and search outside of the internet. Broaden your understanding by listening to music and finding out about the composers and styles of music that you are studying.

4. Termly

Complete all work that is outstanding and meet department deadlines. Talk to your teachers about your progress and concerns if you have any.
